In January, I will read the book Spirit Bear and Children Make History. Doing this will help me write letters to people elected to represent us in the Canadian government. In my letters, I will ask them to fully implement the Spirit Bear Plan to end inequalities in services for First Nations children. I will also take time to learn about the Canadian Human Rights Tribunal case for First Nations child welfare and Jordan's Principle.

January

On this day in 2016, the Canadian Human Rights Tribunal found that the Government of Canada was discriminating against First Nations children.

On February 14, I will take part in Have a Heart Day! I will stand with First Nations kids and their families. I plan to send a Valentine's Day card or letter asking elected people in government to treat First Nations kids with fairness and kindness.

On this day in 2007, the Assembly of First Nations and the First Nations Child & Family Caring Society filed a complaint with the Canadian Human Rights Commission alleging that Canada is discriminating against First Nations children by providing less child welfare funding on reserves.

On this day in 2013, the hearings began for the Canadian Human Rights Tribunal case.

On this day in 2012, Shannen's Dream unanimously passed in the House of Commons.

In March, I will thank my Elders on Elderbeary Day by making them heartfelt cards, drawing them pictures, or baking them a sweet treat to show I care. Elders teach children to live a good life from the knowledge handed down by their ancestors. I'm beary thankful for what they do for all of us!

In April, I will read the book Spirit Bear: Fishing for Knowledge, Catching Dreams to celebrate Shannen's Dream Day of Action. Shannen Koostachin knew that some First Nations communities have good schools, but many don't. She wanted all First Nations children to get a good education that makes them proud of who they are. Shannen stood up for First Nations children and youth and their dreams!

On May 10, I will celebrate Spirit Bear's bearthday and participate in Bear Witness Day to honour Jordan River Anderson and his family for the gift of Jordan's Principle. I will write letters to elected people in the Government of Canada, asking them to properly implement Jordan's Principle by complying with the Canadian Human Rights Tribunal orders.

I will also ask elected officials in my province or territory to make Spirit Bear Day a recognized holiday. Did you know that in 2021, Manitoba made Spirit Bear Day a provincial holiday through the Spirit Bear Day Act?

In June, I will continue to participate in Honouring Memories, Planting Dreams, and I will plant a heart garden in honour of residential school Survivors and the children who did not come home. I will make a promise toward reconciliation in response to Spirit Bear's Guide to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada's Calls to Action. I will write my promise on a paper heart and plant it in my Heart Garden.

June

On this day in 2015, the Truth and Reconciliation Commission's closing ceremonies occurred and its 94 Calls to Action were shared.

On this day in 2019, the National Inquiry into Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls closing ceremony took place. They shared their Final Report and Calls for Justice.

In July, I will honour Shannen Koostachin. I will watch Alanis Obomsawin's film Hi-Ho Mistahey! to learn about the life of Shannen Koostachin and her home community of Attawapiskat First Nation. I will also watch the film Spirit Bear: Fishing for Knowledge, Catching Dreams to learn how Shannen's Dream was created.

38576 v.10

July

In some places in Canada, July 1 is known as Chinese People's Railroad Day. On this day, we are all invited to honour over 17,000 Chinese workers, many of whom lost their lives building the Canadian Pacific Railway.

In November, I will participate in School is a Time for Dreams and learn more about Shannen's Dream by watching Shannen Koostachin's speech at the Attawapiskat Youth Forum in 2008. After, I will write letters to elected officials asking them to ensure First Nations children and youth have the opportunity to get a good education in schools that are safe and comfy. I will also honour First Nations, Inuit, and Métis veterans by learning about their legacies and all that they have done for Canada. Reading Spirit Bear: Honouring Memories, Planting Dreams will help me do this.

On this day in 2010, the Shannen's Dream campaign was launched by youth in Attawapiskat First Nation.

On this day in 1989, the United Nations adopted the Convention on the Rights of the Child.

In December, I will reflect on all the promises for reconciliation that I made this year. I will commit to taking further actions to advance reconciliation in 2027. To do this, I will read Spirit Bear's Guide to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada's Calls to Action and watch the film Spirit Bear: Honouring Memories, Planting Dreams.

The First Nations Child & Family Caring Society

works to ensure the safety and wellbeing of First Nations children, youth, and their families through educational activities that engage individuals of all ages in reconciliation and by providing quality resources to support First Nations communities.

The Caring Society works proudly with our partners far and wide to promote the rights of First Nations, Inuit, and Métis children. All proceeds from the sale of this calendar go to helping ensure First Nations kids can grow up safely at home, get a good education, and be healthy and proud of who they are.

OUR DREAMS
