

How YOU can participate in RECONCILIATION

Truth Telling

Telling the story of residential schools and Canada's true history because of their continued effects on First Nations, Inuit and Métis people.

What is reconciliation?

Reconciliation involves all of us! It is learning about the unfair way First Nations, Inuit and Métis people have been treated and helping to fix it.

Acknowledging

Learning from our past mistakes and understanding that we must correct them to move forward.

How can I help?

The Truth and Reconciliation Commission gave us a vision for reconciliation and the Touchstones of Hope gives us the process and principles to help us get there! Join the journey!

Restoring

Doing what we can to repair the harm done and changing so the we don't make the same mistake twice.

Relating

Moving forward or making progress in a respectful way to create new opportunities with First Nations, Inuit and Métis people.
